QUICK FACTS ABOUT MACAO

LOCATION

Macao is located on the south coast of China in Guangdong province, about 65 km west of Hong Kong. Only 29.7 sq. kilometers in size, it comprises the Macao peninsula (connected to mainland China), the islands of Taipa and Coloane, as well as Cotai, the area of reclaimed land between Taipa and Coloane. There are three bridges that join Macao and Taipa.

POPULATION

The population of Macao is about 650,900, of which 95% are native Chinese.

LANGUAGE

Macao has two official languages: Chinese and Portuguese (Cantonese being widely spoken). Chinese is used in all government departments while English is spoken in business, trade and tourism. You'll notice that the city has two different spellings: Macao and Macau. Macao is the traditional Portuguese spelling. However, since the transfer of sovereignty in 1999, the government of Macau considers both "Macao" and "Macau" to be acceptable English spellings of the name.

CURRENCY

The official currency in Macao is the Pataca (MOP$), which is divided into 100 avos. The Pataca is linked to the Hong Kong dollar. (HKD) The Hong Kong dollar is accepted at all businesses in Macao and is the preferred currency at casinos. Macao has ATM machines throughout the city so getting money at any time is not a problem. Most ATMs dispense Patacas and Hong Kong dollars, and some also dispense Chinese Renminbi (RMB). Foreign currency can be changed at hotels, banks or authorized exchange dealers.

GOVERNMENT

Macao is considered a limited democracy. It is part of China; however, it enjoys its own autonomy under China's "one country, two systems" policy. This allows Macao to stay relatively the same for the next 30 years, at which time the Chinese Government will likely replace the local government. For more information, visit www.macao.gov.mo.

TAX SYSTEM

Macao has a territorial tax policy in place, which means your income is only taxed for what is created in Macao. For more information, go to <http://www.macautax.org>. The school will deduct approximately 3-4% and file your Macao income tax for you.

TIME

Macao is eight hours ahead of Greenwich Mean Time.

VOLTAGE

Electricity in Macao is 220V, 50Hz. The power plugs used are the three-pin, square-shaped or round-shaped type. Although you can buy adapters for your plugs at home, it's probably better to purchase your appliances here in Macao to avoid any problems. However, if you've brought items from home, you can purchase a step down converter which reduces the voltage from 220V to 110V and protects your devices from power surges or other electrical damage. They are readily available in Hong Kong for around $150 HKD.

WEATHER

Macao has a humid, subtropical climate with hot summers and mild winters. The average annual about 22.7C and humidity varies between 75% and 90%. Macao has a lot of rainfall, with an average annual precipitation of 2,120 millimeters. Autumn (October - December) tends to be the nicest time of year. The average temperature is around 24C and rainfall is very light. Winter (January - March) is cool but sunny. You can expect temperatures of around 15C although it can drop to below 10C at times.

March and April bring warmer temperatures and increased humidity, along with rainfall, averaging about 90-120mm throughout the season. Summer (May-September) is very hot and humid with temperatures climbing above 30C during the daytime. Typhoon season generally runs from May to November. Warning signals for typhoons depend on the proximity of a tropical storm. If the signal 8 is hoisted, the bridges between Macao and Taipa will be closed, buses will stop service and shops and schools will be closed. Ferry service and most flights will also be cancelled.

COPING WITH CULTURE SHOCK

Moving to a new country can be overwhelming, exciting and stressful. Culture shock happens when you're adjusting to a new language and culture, and almost everyone who has lived in another country has experienced it to some degree. The signs and symptoms of culture shock are:

- a feeling of sadness and loneliness
- an over concern about your health
- headaches, pains and allergies
- insomnia or sleeping too much
- feelings of anger, depression, vulnerability
- idealizing your own culture
- trying too hard to adapt by becoming obsessed with the new culture
- feeling shy or insecure
- overwhelming sense of homesickness
- feeling lost or confused
- questioning your decision to move to the new country

There are usually five stages of culture shock:

Stage 1: The Honeymoon Stage

Like any new experience, there's a feeling of euphoria when you first arrive in a new country and you're in awe of the differences you see and experience. You feel excited, stimulated, enriched.

Stage 2: The Distress Stage

Everything you're experiencing no longer feels new. You feel confused, alone and realize that the familiar support systems you're used to are not easily accessible.

Stage 3: Reintegration Stage

During this stage, you start refusing to accept the differences you encounter. You're angry, frustrated and even feel hostile to those around you. You start to idealize life "back home". You dislike the culture, the language, the food and may even develop some prejudices toward the new culture. Don't worry - this is absolutely normal. You're adjusting.

Stage 4: Autonomy Stage

This is the first stage in acceptance. You start to accept the differences and feel like you can begin to live with them. You feel more confident and better able to cope with any problems that may arise. You no longer feel isolated and instead, you're able to look at the world around you and appreciate where you are.

Stage 5: Independence Stage

You are yourself again! You feel comfortable, confident, and able to make decisions. You no longer feel alone and isolated. You appreciate both the differences and similarities of your new culture. You start to feel at home.

So what's the best way to cope with culture shock? The bottom line is – make a conscious effort to adjust to the new culture. Here are some suggestions on how to make yourself feel more at home in Macao:

- ❖ Learn the rules of living in Macao. Try to understand how and why the local people do things the way they do. Their behavior and customs may be different from your own, but they are neither better nor worse than what you are used to.
- ❖ Get involved in some aspect of the new culture.
- ❖ Take time to learn the language. People will appreciate your effort to communicate with them in their language, even if it's just a few simple phrases.
- ❖ Take care of yourself. Eat well, exercise and take the time to sleep.
- ❖ Discover. Take the time to be a tourist and explore what Macao has to offer.
- ❖ Maintain contact with friends and family back home. Writing home about your experiences and problems can help you sort through them. It's also a good idea to keep a journal of your feelings and thoughts.
- ❖ Avoid idealizing life back home. Try to make the most of your stay and consciously adopt an open mind.

SETTING UP YOUR NEW HOME

Getting your home in order quickly will help you to feel settled. Almost everyone in Macao lives in an apartment and you'll need an agent to help you find one. Here are some agencies that have English-speaking agents who can show you available properties:

FINDING YOUR APARTMENT

Leasing Conditions

Apartments can be rented unfurnished or furnished. Furnished apartments have the basic complement of furniture such as beds, couch, coffee table, TV stand, dining room table and chairs, TV, wardrobes and a washing machine. Many apartments, however, may not have an oven or clothes dryer, but these can be purchased at nearby appliance stores for a reasonable price. Most people purchase a small countertop oven (as opposed to a large western-style oven). Keep in mind that you will probably have to give your new apartment a thorough cleaning before you move in. More often than not, apartments do not have soft furnishings such as carpets and curtains.

Ask your agent to write down your apartment name and address in Chinese or get a business card from the apartment management company so you can show it to cab drivers when you want to return home from somewhere, or when you are arranging deliveries to your apartment.

Rentals

Rentals are in Hong Kong dollars payable monthly in advance and are sometimes exclusive of monthly car park charges. Car park rental charges can vary from one residential development to the next.

Deposits

There is usually a security deposit that is equivalent to two months' rental that is payable to the landlord when an offer to lease is accepted. To secure and hold the apartment for a short period of time, you would usually pay one month's deposit immediately. The second half of the deposit can be paid later to make up the two months security deposit.

Once the Tenancy Agreement is signed, the deposit will be retained by the Landlord without interest. This security deposit will be refunded to the tenant upon the expiration of the lease, if the apartment is returned in the same condition in which it was entered.

NB: You will also be required to pay the current month's rent in advance.

Tenancy Agreement

Most tenancy agreements in Macao are for a period of three years. You may include an escape clause in your tenancy agreement that gives you the right to break the agreement by giving 2 or 3 months notice to the landlord, after a minimum occupation period of 12-15 months. This is subject to approval from the landlord and will be stipulated in the tenancy agreement. If you sign a one-year tenancy agreement, you will likely be charged one month's rent in commission to renew your contract for a subsequent year (even in the same apartment with the same agent).

Management Fee

In some instances, you may have to contribute to a building management fee for the cleaning and maintenance of communal areas within your residential development. In larger developments or buildings, this is usually included in the rent and the cost borne by the landlord.

Agency Fee

An agency fee is payable if you engage an agent to find the property and to oversee the letting process from the start of the tenancy through to the termination. The agency fee is usually equivalent to 1 month's rent. Together with all of the fees outlined above, securing an apartment will require the equivalent of 4 month's rent. Be sure to have enough funds to cover this expense.

Giving Notice

If you decide to terminate the agreement and vacate the property, ensure that you give the landlord the appropriate notice, which under Macau Law is ninety (90) days. Also check your contract for any requirements such as minimum occupancy periods, break clause, early termination, etc. Do not use the security deposit to pay the final month's rent as this is in contravention of contracts and Macau law. Once you have given notice of your intention to vacate the property, your agent or landlord will arrange an inspection of the property and return the appropriate amount of deposit to you.

UTILITIES

Shell Macau Ltd.

Caltex Oil (Macao) Ltd.

Payment of your gas bill can involve paying the bill at a local gas store, taking the bill and cash to the front desk of your building, or a gas company representative may come and read the meter and collect payment based on the reading. It all depends on where you live and the type of gas supply you have.

Water

Macao Water supplies all of Macao's drinking water. The 24 hour customer hotline phone number is 2822 0088. The Customer Services Centre is located at: 718 Avenida do Conselheiro Borja in Macao. ### Bottled Water

Although the water quality in Macao is generally good and on par with European standards, many people choose to have water coolers in their home for drinking. There are dozens of companies that you can choose from. One of the larger providers is Jian Lin Shan at 2883 7964/6685 9817. Once you set up an account, you can purchase water tickets. When you run out of water, just leave the empty bottles outside your apartment door along with some tickets and the company will deliver a new supply at no charge. It's an easy and convenient way to always have a fresh supply of drinking water.

SERVICES

When opening a bank account at Banco Comercial Macau (BCM), you will be required to provide your valid work permit (Blue Card), identification document (for example, passport or ID card) and proof of residential address. To facilitate the process, please contact the human resources department at TIS to obtain a Declaration of Employment letter and then present this together with your personal documents. There is generally no fee or charge for opening a bank account but BCM levies a low-balance fee on accounts that do not meet the minimum balance requirements.

GETTING AROUND MACAU

BUS SERVICE

Macao has an excellent public transportation system which links the Macao peninsula, Taipa, Cotai and Coloane. Two bus companies (Transmac & TCM) provide all of the bus routes. Service is frequent and inexpensive, about MOP 6.00 for most routes. In Macau, you have to flag the bus like you would a taxi.

You can purchase a prepaid electronic MacauPass at any 7-11 convenience store for use on all buses. If you're using coins, make sure to pay the exact amount as the bus driver will not give out change. Keep in mind that the bus routes operate on a one-way circuit around the city, which means you may not have the same stops on a return trip. You can find more information on bus routes here.

A useful app to download is the Bus Traveling App

TAXIS

Taxis are plentiful in Macao and can be a convenient and relatively inexpensive way to get around the city. You can catch a cab on the street, at most tourist sites, at any casino/hotel taxi queue or by calling to request a pick-up. Call either 8500 0000, 2828 3283 or 2881 2345. There is no Uber in Macau.

You can also try using the Macau Taxi app.

Cab fares start at MOP 19 and most cab rides in Taipa shouldn't cost you more than MOP 60. A cab ride to Macao or Coloane will be in the range of MOP 70-90, depending on where you're going. If you're going to or from the airport or ferry terminals, expect to pay a surcharge of MOP 5, plus MOP 3 per suitcase for luggage carried in the boot (trunk).

The only time that taxis can be difficult to come by is between 17:30 – 19:00 due to shift change. The best way to catch a cab during this time is to wait at a nearby casino or hotel. Most cab drivers speak little or no English so it's best to either show them the location on a map, show them the Chinese address or tell them in Cantonese where you want to go. This is easier than it sounds; check out the Learning Cantonese section of the guide for a quick lesson in common Cantonese words, places and phrases.

FERRY SERVICE

TurboJet provides high speed ferry service from the Macao Ferry Terminal (Outer Harbour) to the Hong Kong Ferry Terminal (Sheung Wan), Hong Kong International Airport, Kowloon (China Ferry Terminal) and Shenzhen International Airport. Cotai Water Jet also provides a similar ferry service from the Taipa Ferry Terminal to Hong Kong, Kowloon and Hong Kong International Airport. The journey takes approx. 1 hour.

HONG KONG-ZHUHAI-MACAU BRIDGE SHUTTLE BUS

The 55 km long bridge provides a quick and inexpensive way to get to Hong Kong from Macau. HZM Shuttle buses operate 24 hours a day and the journey takes approximately 35 minutes. Tickets cost MOP65 each way. There are two city buses that provide transport to and from Macau Port: 101X and 102X. The cost is MOP6.

DRIVING IN MACAU

You may legally drive in Macau if you hold a valid Overseas Driving License issued by your country of residence provided that your stay in Macau is less than 12 months from the date of your arrival to Macau. To do this, you need to go to your local police station where you will be issued an “entitlement to drive” document that entitles you to drive vehicles that are listed on your foreign driving license. This permit is issued by the Macau Police Bureau and is valid for 6 months.

If your stay in Macau is longer than a period of one year, you will need to obtain a Macau Driving License. To get the Macau driver license, an applicant must pass both the written and driving tests. It may be possible to exchange a foreign driver license for the Macau driver license. If this is the case, the written test is cleared automatically. However, an applicant may have to undergo a practical driving test. Different rules apply for Work Permit (Blue Card) holders and Macau resident ID holders. For further information, click here or contact the Macao Transport Bureau at 8866 6363.

CYCLING IN MACAU

Cycling in Macau is a great way to save money on transportation costs, discover the city and get some exercise at the same time. However, please wear a helmet.

Bike shop:

Wun Pang Bicycles

No: 33 R/C Loja-B, Rampa Dos Cavaleiros, Macau

Phone: 2842 5289

Note: Bicycling is prohibited on all bridges spanning Macao Peninsula and Taipa.

WHERE TO SHOP

Finding the right places to buy groceries, toiletries, clothing or that bottle of red wine will go a long way toward helping you adjust to life in Macao. The good news is, Macao is a small city and you'll likely be within walking distance of at least some of the stores you'll frequent the most.

There's no hard and fast rule when it comes to store hours. In general, most stores are open seven days a week, with the odd exception. Grocery stores and supermarkets generally open early by about 09:00, while some are open 24 hours. Almost all other shops open later, anytime between 10:00 to 12:00, but also stay open later until around 22:00 or later.

GROCERIES

There probably won't be the selection you're used to at home and there's a good chance you may have to go to more than one store to find everything on your shopping list, but you should be able to find all that you need. The main grocery stores are: Park 'N Shop, San Miu, Royal Supermarket, and Seng Cheong. Other supermarkets include US Mart, Supreme Food Market, Grand Mart and the supermarket at the New Yaohan department store.

Park 'n Shop in Taipa caters more to expats and carries many Western products that are hard to find elsewhere, such as Kraft dinner, Mexican food, dairy products (especially cheeses), baking ingredients and certain spices and pastes. They also have a good selection of fresh fruits, vegetables and meat. Price-wise, it's a bit more expensive than the other supermarkets.

San Miu carries a wide range of products and is starting to carry more Western food, but you may still have to look elsewhere for certain items. It has a wide range of fresh fruits and veggies and the prices tend to be cheaper than the other supermarkets.

Seng Cheong is a mid-size supermarket, but well stocked with a surprisingly wide range of products. The selection of fruits and veggies is pretty good and prices are reasonable.

Park 'N Shop, San Miu and Seng Cheong all provide free delivery upon a minimum spend (check in store what the minimum spend is for each store).

Royal Supermarkets are plentiful throughout Macao and carry most items. Some are large stores with a good selection and some are smaller in size; it depends on which store you go to. Prices are reasonable.

US Mart is a mid-size grocery store in Taipa and also carries some Western foods. Fruits and veggies are adequate and prices are reasonable.

Supreme Food Market is smaller, but carries many hard-to-find western foods, gluten free and dairy free foods as well as baking ingredients.

New Yaohan department store has a large supermarket on the 7th floor of its 8-story building in Macao on Ave. Comercial de Macao. It also carries many Western products and has a good fruit and vegetable section. Although it's the most expensive option of all, you can still find some good deals.

Almost all of the supermarkets and even convenience stores sell wine and spirits. Bring your own shopping bags from home when grocery shopping as Macau recently introduced a fee for plastic bags of 1 MOP per bag.

In addition to the supermarkets mentioned above, you can also find many smaller, privately owned grocery stores and fruit & vegetable stalls that offer a good selection at cheaper prices. Look around your neighborhood for these great finds.

TOILETRIES AND COSMETICS

Most of the supermarkets carry a selection of toiletries such as hair shampoo & conditioner, body wash, body lotions, deodorant, hair styling products, toothpaste, toothbrushes, mouthwash, dental floss and feminine hygiene products.

You can also go to Watson's, a large health and beauty retailer, with nine stores in Macao. The chain sells toiletries, cosmetics, packaged food products and also has a pharmacy in some locations. For other cosmetics retailers, try Sasa, ColourMix and Angel Cosmetics. All have a number of locations throughout Macao. There's also New Yaohan (1st and 2nd levels), which sells a large range of luxury brand beauty products and fragrances.

CLOTHING

There are many clothing stores in Macao, but some western sizes and plus size clothing can be difficult to find. If you wear plus size clothing, it's a good idea to stock up before you arrive.

If you like international luxury brand clothing stores, then you've come to the right place; Macao has loads of them. Check out the Grand Canal Shoppes at the Venetian, the shops at the Four Seasons, Galaxy Resort, Sands Cotai Central, City of Dreams and Studio City. The Wynn Macao, Hotel Lisboa, and the MGM Grand also house luxury brands like Chanel, Burberry, Christian Dior, Fendi and Giorgio Armani.

Your best bet for more affordable clothing is also the Grand Canal Shoppes, which has a number of stores that sell items in the mid-price range (H&M, Uniqlo, Zara).

There are also some chain stores and mainstream brands in and around Senado Square (Baleno, Giordano, G2000) and at Sands Cotai Central (Marks & Spencer's, Zara, Esprit).

If a bargain is what you're after, then look no further than the flea markets in the Three Lamps District. Street vendors and small shops often carry discontinued brands or over-runs at bargain prices. Another option is to have your clothes made. There are many tailors in Macao who can custom make clothing or copy an item of clothing you already have at a fairly reasonable cost. Most tailors can be found in the Three Lamps district near the Rotunda de Carlos da Maia.

APPLIANCES & ELECTRONICS

You will likely need to buy some appliances and electronic devices when you move to Macao. The city has a good variety of shops and prices are relatively low.

Fortress is probably the largest supplier with locations in Taipa and Macau. It sells televisions, computers, games, digital cameras, phones and home appliances. A popular location for TIS staff is the store in Taipa on the ground floor of Flower City (near Park'N Shop). There is also a store in the Venetian. Jinlong Electrical Supermarket also has a good selection of electronics and appliances to choose from at its store in Macao.

There is a wide range of stores specializing in computers and accessories as well. Check out the Fortune Tower Shopping Centre, the largest computer mall in Macao, with over two dozen stores. It's located on Avenida do Ouvidor Arriaga near the Avenida de Horta e Costa shopping district.

FURNITURE

There are plenty of shops in Macau that sell contemporary furniture as well as antiques. You can find reasonably priced, ready-to-assemble furniture, kitchen appliances and home accessories at IKEA, located in NOVA Mall, Avenida de Kwong Tung in Taipa. Store hours are 10:00 - 22:00 seven days a week. You can also order IKEA products online and have purchases delivered to your home.

Unfortunately, many of the shops in Macau that sell Chinese style antiques or reproductions have closed due to high rents. There are, however, a few places left near the Ruins of St. Paul at the foot of Monte Fort in Senado Square. The shops sell everything from bookcases and wardrobes to dining room sets and coffee tables. If you don't see what you want, ask the owner. Many shops have catalogues with a variety of designs that can be made to order and delivered right to your home.

For other western-style furnishings, try Avenida Ouvidor de Arriaga where there are at least a dozen stores that sell brand name furniture. Smaller furniture stores abound in Macau and sell decent furniture at reasonable prices. You can usually order from a catalogue if they don't have what you want.

ONLINE SHOPPING

Online shopping is increasingly popular and is a convenient way to get hard-to-find items and often, offers better variety and choice. Check out the following retail websites that deliver to Macau:

HOUSE PLANTS

If you're looking for some greenery to spruce up your apartment, the Three Lamps District has a few places where you can purchase a good selection of small, medium and large tropical plants and flowers.

In Taipa, there is a small shop in Flower City mall near San Mui and another one next to Cuppa Coffee, both of which sell plants and flowers at reasonable prices.

THINGS TO SEE AND DO

SENADO SQUARE

At the heart of Macao's historic centre is Senado Square, located on Ave. Almeida Ribeiro. It's a pedestrian shopping area paved in the traditional Portuguese mosaic wave pattern. You'll find brand name clothing and shoe stores alongside street vendors selling baby clothes, shoes and household items. There's a fresh food market, restaurants and shops selling some of the foods Macao is best known for such as almond cookies, meat jerky and delicious Portuguese egg tarts.

RED MARKET

The Red Market, located on the corner of Ave. de Horta e Costa and Ave. Almirante Lacerda, is a famous landmark in Macao known for its red bricks and art deco style. It's also a busy market where you can buy flowers, dried produce, seafood, meat and fresh fruits and vegetables at great prices.

RUINS OF ST. PAUL

The Ruins of St. Paul can be found on one of the narrow streets leading from Senado Square. The church was built between 1602-1637 but burned to the ground in a fire in 1835, leaving only the stairs and the front façade standing. It was restored in 1991 and 1995. The Museum of Sacred Art and Crypt, which houses religious paintings, sculptures and statues, was also built at that time.

MOUNT FORTRESS & MACAO MUSEUM

Beside the Ruins of St. Paul are Mount Fortress and the Macao Museum. The fortress was built from 1617-1626 as a military defense against attacks from the sea. In 1965, it was converted to house the Meteorological Service and in 1996, it was opened to the public as the Macao Museum. The museum has some excellent exhibits all dedicated to the history and culture of Macao. It's open from 10:00 - 18:00 Tues-Sun (closed on Mondays).

LOU LIM IEOC GARDEN

This beautiful Chinese garden was originally built by wealthy businessman Lou Kau and inherited by his son Lou Lim Ieoc in 1906. It was later restored and opened to the public in 1974 by the Macau government. Located on Estrada de Adolfo Loureiro, the garden features a large pond filled with turtles and fish, flowering bushes and trees, a winding bridge and park benches for sitting. It's popular with the locals for tai chi, reading, playing mahjong and singing traditional Chinese songs.

A-MA CULTURAL VILLAGE

A-Ma Cultural Village is a large cultural complex celebrating the deity A-Ma and was built in 2001 in the Qing Dynasty style. It features Tian Hou Palace, a bell tower, a dressing hall, museum and some shops. Up a steep hill next to the village you'll find the world's tallest statue of the goddess A-Ma, known as the protector of fishermen. Hours are 08:00 - 18:00 daily. There is shuttle bus service between the Façade at Estrada de Seac Pai Van and the village every 30 minutes.

THREE LAMPS DISTRICT

This historic area is a labyrinth of tiny shops and street vendors that sell all kinds of things at great bargain prices - everything from clothing, shoes, and household accessories to food items such as fruits and vegetables, fresh meat, baked goods and eggs. The neighborhood begins at Rotunda de Carlos da Maia (where the three street lamps can be found) and spreads out over several blocks.

A-MA TEMPLE

Built in 1488 during the Ming Dynasty, A-Ma Temple is the oldest temple in Macao. It contains six main parts all guarded by stone lions. In 2005, it became one of the designated sites of the Historic Centre of Macau on the UNESCO World Heritage List. It's a popular stop on any tour of Macao.

GUIA FORTRESS & LIGHTHOUSE

The Fortress, which also contains a chapel and a lighthouse, was built between 1637 and 1638 and stands on the highest point in Macao. The beam of light from the lighthouse can be seen for 20 miles. To get to the fortress, go to the bottom of Guia Hill on Ave. Sidonio Pais and take the short gondola ride to the top (or walk up the winding pathway). From there, follow the signs leading up to the fortress.

Hac Sa Beach in Coloane is a long stretch of beach with a unique black-tinged sand. There are playgrounds, picnic and camping areas, and a variety of snack stands, cafes and restaurants. Recommended is Fernando's for excellent Portuguese food in a relaxed atmosphere. There's also a sports complex with an Olympic-size swimming pool, children's pool, tennis courts and a sports field.

CHEOC VAN BEACH

Located on the west side of Coloane Island in a small cove is Cheoc Van Beach. It's a favourite spot among TIS staff. There's a small sandy beach great for playing and picnicking as well as a large free form swimming pool with lots of chairs and umbrellas for relaxing after a dip. Two restaurants (La Gondola and Pousada de Coloane) both have terraces overlooking the water if you decide to stay for dinner. Be prepared for a huge set of stairs down (and up) from the beach.

MACAO SCIENCE CENTRE

It's hard not to miss the Macao Science Centre with its silver, cone-like shape.
